

Laser Hair Removal/ Reduction:

Laser hair removal is a permanent way to reduce dark hair on the face and body. I want everyone who is interested in laser hair removal to know before they start that laser hair removal is a process it is not immediately rewarding. But the majority of our clients are abundantly happy with their results and wish they had done it years earlier. Laser hair removal is one of the most convenient gifts you can give yourself. I personally really appreciate my laser hair removal when I am on vacation and I'm not struggling to shave with a cheap disposable razor in the hotel shower, or when my kids surprise me with a spur of the moment "lets go swimming". No more razor burn that looks like something contagious in the bikini area...yuck...just smooth hair free skin:)

Here is what you need to know.....

Please shave the area we are treating prior to your treatment (no waxing, tweezing or using nair two weeks before first treatment or in-between any treatment. Just shaving with a razor). Your treatment appointments, depend upon the area being treated, will be spaced 4-8 weeks apart. This spacing has to do with the typical persons length of time between the antigen stage of hair growth cycles. Each treatment should be comfortable and very tolerable as each of our 4 laser hair removal lasers have cooling tip hand pieces. Ice can be applied after the treatment if needed but the majority of our clients do not need ice after and feel perfectly fine to go about normal activities. It can take up to 10 days for all the hair that was affected by the treatment to work its way out of the hair follicle. This may look like the hair is growing, just continue to shave to help the hair work its way out. Shaving is not necessary as the hair will work its way out on its own but may speed up the process so you can see your results from the treatment a little faster. (But please remember to shave before your next appointment) Remember that not all of the hair will fall out after each treatment. Laser hair removal lasers are primarily effective only on the hair in the antigen stage of hair growth and it is unlikely that all of the hair would be in the same stage of life during any one treatment.

Your bodies hormones and chemistry can and will effect your results, as well as number of treatments needed in each area. We have found that Men need more treatments than most women. Women receiving laser hair removal in the face and groin typically need more treatments than other body areas. Six is an industry standard package number but most people need more than six treatments in each area to achieve their desired result. There is no guarantee with laser hair removal that you will get the desired result even if you have dark hair. Most clients that are good candidates for this treatment are happy with their results after receiving 6-12 treatments in an area. Some people, even ideal candidates, may need more than 12 treatments. Ideal candidates will have light skin and black hair. We can treat all skin types safely as well as treat a variety of brown tones of hair. You will not be a good candidate for this treatment if you have light brown, blonde, ashy blonde, grey, white or red hair in the area you are seeking treatment. Some medications cannot be taken while you receive laser hair removal treatment. And some medications we need you to be off of for a period of time before you are treated. We do not treat anyone pregnant or breast feeding, with an active sun burn in the treatment area, with recent RetinA use or with a current spray or artificial tan in the treatment area. We do a complementary laser hair removal consultation appointment before the first treatment is scheduled to ensure we can safely and effectively treat you. Even with this consultation some ideal candidates do not respond well to laser hair removal and do not achieve the results they are seeking. Once again there is no guarantee with laser hair removal results. We will provide you with the best industry standard lasers and a thorough attention to detailed treatment during each appointment. Laser hair removal causes solar sensitivity and sun screen must be used between treatments. It is not advised for clients receiving laser hair removal to sun bathe or use tanning beds in between treatments. For clients that are prone to cold sores or genital herpes outbreak or carry the herpes virus, laser hair removal treatments can stimulate an outbreak in the treatment area. Please contact your medical doctor if you need to be on preventive medication. We do not treat anyone with an active outbreak of herpes or shingles. Please take some time to read the attached Laser hair removal pre and post care information as well as list of potential negative risks associated with receiving a laser hair removal treatment, so you are able to make a well educated choice whether or not to enter into the process of laser hair removal. We will answer any questions and go over all information with you during your laser hair removal consultation. If you have purchased directly from us a package of 12 or more laser hair removal treatments in an area we will provide you with one complementary touch up in the area we treated.

Pricing does not include Gratuity or 2% Minnesota Care Tax (the answer is yes it is customary to leave gratuity for laser hair removal, even if you do not feel the need to leave gratuity you will still receive exceptional service).
